

30

A technical drawing of a vertical rectangular component. A dimension line at the top indicates a width of 30. The component has a thin profile with a small rectangular feature near the bottom.

1195

A technical drawing of a horizontal rectangular component. A dimension line at the top indicates a length of 1195. The component has a double-line border and is connected to a cable that runs horizontally to the left.

295

A technical drawing of a horizontal rectangular component. A dimension line on the right indicates a height of 295. The component has a double-line border and is connected to a cable that runs horizontally to the left.

